Germans Hurl Fresh Troops In Attack On Reds

Pierce Tank And Infantry Battles Rage In Area West Of Kiev

RUSSIANS ADVANCE IN OTHER SECTORS

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, Dec. 8.—Fierce tank and infantry battles raged today in the Chernyavov area, 75 miles west of Kiev, where the Germans scored some advances as they hurled ever-fresh reinforcements in a new drive toward the Ukrainian capital.

The Soviet high command, in its midnight communiqué, admitted that the Russians were forced to retire from several towns and villages, but announced that heavy casualties were inflicted upon the enemy. New gains were scored by the Red army in the Znamenska area.

More than 3,000 Nazis were killed in yesterday's fighting, with more than half these perishing in the Chernyavov sector alone.

Nazis Hurl New Troops

Reporting the "fierce engagements," the communiqué said: "The Germans threw into battle ever-new infantry and tank units without interruption. By the end of the day in one sector our units abandoned several inhabited localities under enemy pressure."

The London radio reported that the Nazis were estimated as using "well over 1,000 tanks" in the day's fighting. The broadcast added, "a fresh German counter-blow must be expected in violence for the next few days."

The Red army, which met the new enemy offensive with every weapon at its command, repelled many Nazi thrusts. Some 1,500 Germans were "annihilated" and 58 tanks and armored cars knocked out of action.

Also doing its part to stem the German advance, the Russian air force overcame the obstacle presented by adverse weather to destroy enemy troops concentrations and communication lines. Forty motor vehicles, tanks and an armored railway train were wrecked by the Soviet airmen, who also downed 22 enemy aircraft over the Kerch peninsula.

Red Army Advance

West and southwest of Kremenchug, however, the Red army continued its advance.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Two years ago today America formally declared war on Japan, the day following the sneak attack by the Japanese upon Pearl Harbor. War declarations against Germany and Italy came later in the month.

Large numbers of New Castle residents caught a glimpse of a dirigible that was sailing around over the city for a short period on Tuesday afternoon.

Under the present time observation existing between New Castle and Youngstown, one can leave New Castle at 8 o'clock and arrive in Youngstown before 8 o'clock. On the return trip you would leave Youngstown at 8 o'clock and reach New Castle shortly before 10 o'clock. This Ohio city is observing Eastern Standard time this winter. New Castle is on Eastern war time.

Following the various predictions about the chances of New Castle having a white Christmas this year, the situation will be watched with more than ordinary interest. From most of the forecasts it will be "Dreaming of a White Christmas" with the dream being the extent of the situation, there being little indication of snow for the holiday period.

Prognostications of amateur weather forecasters that this will be a mild and open winter seem born out by the weather so far this month. Last year, December started out rather cold, with a temperature of 8 above zero on the 8th of the month. A year ago today it was down to 13 above zero.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today are as follows:

Minimum temperature, 35.

River stage, 44 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:

Conferences To Bring United Allied Attacks

By PIERRE J. HUSS

CAIRO, Dec. 8.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt emerged today as the central figure of the three vital conferences just concluded, where he placed the United States in the leading role in the shaping of things to come.

(The London radio quoted a Cairo dispatch today stating that "British and American chiefs of staff are now busy working out the final details of the attacks on Germany and Japan" which were determined upon at the Cairo conference between Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and at the Teheran meetings of Roosevelt, Churchill and Soviet Premier Marshal Stalin.)

Hall Conference Results

Diplomatic observers in Cairo unanimously hailed the results of all conferences, and point out that from now on affairs of far places become of vital and immediate interest to America, ending the last remaining vestige of western hemisphere isolation. That, these observers said, is one of the major accomplishments of the series of conferences just concluded.

The German overseas news agency said the Turkish parliament (Continued On Page Two)

Delicate War Position Is Occupied By Turkey In Present Conflict

MAJOR RABORG GIVES VIEWS OF CONFERENCE

The Cairo conference between the President of Turkey, the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might."

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG

Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The most recent of famous conferences, that between President Ismet Inonu of Turkey, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, though cloaked totally in the garb of diplomacy was in reality entirely based on military matters.

To understand the results of the meeting, it is well to realize completely the very delicate war position now occupied by Turkey. She is in a sense a buffer state between Nazi armed forces in Bulgaria, which adjoins European Turkey, and the now very strong Allied forces in the Middle East. Further, geographically Turkey is astride of invasion routes of antiquity. Germany has not been unaware of possible

Mild Flu Epidemic Occurs At Capital

Washington Activity Is Slowed Down Due To Prevalence Of Disease

By MARTHA KEARNEY

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A mild flu epidemic slowed up the nation's capital today and health officials are mindful of the severe epidemics of grip in London and Berlin, asked workers with colds to stay away from their jobs.

"Colds lower resistance and open the door to flu, grip and pneumonia," said G. S. Perrott of the United States public health service. "Congested areas such as Washington and war centers in general will suffer most and quickest if workers spread infections through colds."

These things spread through crowds rapidly. A war worker who hesitates to be absent for one day may well keep 20 people away from a plant for weeks.

The serious epidemics in London and Berlin are attributed to lack of adequate heating and over-crowding in this country, officials maintain. If colds are checked quickly.

Public health officials said the outbreak does not approach the fury of the epidemic of 1918 and characterized it as an unusually severe flu of seasonal flu cases.

The public health service advocates staying in bed, drinking fruit juices, milk and water, avoiding drafts, use of nose drops and sedatives until a cold is cured. If no relief is found in a few days the doctor should be called.

Mistaken patriotism leads many people to stay on their government or war jobs until they endanger the health of persons in their immediate vicinity, health officials have found.

War-working parents frequently send children to school despite colds and minor ailments because they have no one to leave them with during the day. This imperils the well-being of other children and may well aggravate a condition which could easily be remedied.

Air Attacks On Japs Continue

No Letup In Blasting Of Enemy Bases In South Pacific Area

GROUND FIGHTING ACTIVITY IN LULL

By FRANK ROBERTSON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Dec. 8.—Although there was a lull in ground activity in the Southwest Pacific, there was no let-up in the merciless Allied air attacks against Japanese targets in this theatre, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Cape Gloucester, on the southern tip of New Guinea, again was fiercely attacked by Allied bombers, which dropped another 150 tons of explosives on enemy installations there. This brought the total to more than 600 tons of bombs dropped by heavy and medium bombers on Cape Gloucester during the past week.

"The targets were well covered," Gen. MacArthur laconically reported concerning the results of the Allied raids.

Medium and attack bombers, escorted by fighter planes, bombed and strafed Jap positions on the Huon Peninsula where "sharp ground fighting continues in the Wareo sector," the official communiqué said.

The Lakemba-Kiliga sector of the enemy's Huon Peninsula line was blasted with 22 tons of bombs.

MUST OBSERVE CEILING PRICES AT NIGHT CLUBS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—(INS)—The regional office of Price Administration issued a warning today to hotel, night club and restaurant owners, that ceiling prices must be observed on New Year's eve.

No establishment may charge more than 1942 prices unless an increase can be justified by more of better entertainment, food and liquor, the OPA ruled. In any case, OPA said, the increase may not exceed ten per cent of last year's prices.

"GRIPPE BRONCHITIS" SWEEPS PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—(INS)—A "phal epidemic" of a mild type of "grippe-bronchitis"—is sweeping the Philadelphia area, director of public health Hubley Owen announced today.

Thousands of war workers and school children have been hit by the outbreak, Dr. Owen declared. He blamed the epidemic on fatigue, crowded working conditions, jams of Christmas shoppers, and the lack of proper precautions because of the mild weather.

Allies Agreed On Nazi Treatment After End Of War

Understood To Have Determined Stern Treatment Of Germany Necessary

MAY FORCE NAZIS TO REBUILD RUINS

By KINGSBURY SMITH

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The United States, Great Britain and Russia are understood today to be in agreement on the necessity for stern treatment of Germany after this war.

The Teheran and Moscow conferences are said in responsible diplomatic quarters to have disclosed the Soviet share the Anglo-American view that Germany must be disarmed and her industries controlled by the Allies for an indefinite period of time.

No Public Declaration Now

It was learned, however, that the Soviet government is opposed to any public declaration by the Allied powers at this time as to the specific treatment to be accorded a defeated Germany.

The Soviet leaders are of the opinion that such a declaration would serve no useful purpose. They believe it would be distorted by the Nazi propaganda machine in order to make the German people fight harder and longer. Therefore, it is intended for the present to avoid any formal elucidation of the unconditional surrender policy.

Nevertheless, the official silence does not mean that the problem of what to do with Germany after the war has not been thoroughly discussed with the Russians. It was brought up at both the Teheran and Moscow conferences.

Reach Understanding

At the Teheran meeting, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin are understood to have reached a general understanding on the armistice arrangements, including the Nazi territory to be occupied in Germany by the Anglo-American and Soviet armies.

At Moscow, Secretary of State Cordell Hull submitted a paper setting forth the American government's views on the long-range postwar treatment of Germany. The American representative at the Moscow conference also gathered the impression that the Soviet government favors far more drastic treatment of Germany than is generally realized.

The Soviets want German labor used to help rebuild those parts of the liberated territories, especially (Continued On Page Two)

Report Movement Of German Troops In Turkish Area

Believe Reports Are Axis-Inspired To Counteract Conference Results

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Persistent reports probably Axis-inspired, cropped up again in London today alleging vast German military movements in the southeastern European area.

The latest rumors appeared in the London Evening News and said the Germans were massing large detachments of troops at Salonika, Greece, and on the Aegean island of Lemnos near the entrance to the Dardanelles.

These reports asserted again that the Nazis were dispatching a huge force of troops to the Turkish frontier of Bulgaria as well as along the Black sea coast, while air bases on the low-lying Bulgarian plain are being rushed to completion.

The Evening News, in a dispatch from Stockholm, quoted reports from Ankara to the effect that sealed orders to be opened only in the event of a "certain happening" had been given to all Turkish officers. Turkish air and artillery reinforcements have been sent to the Gallipoli and Dardanelles areas while many reservists are expected to be called to the colors shortly.

Air raid precautions regulations are being tightened up in all big Turkish cities, particularly Istanbul, this dispatch continued.

In another message dateline Vichy, the news said that the state of siege established in six provinces of Turkey in 1940 had been extended "for a few more months."

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Police attempted to identify today the body of a red-haired woman, about 45, who was recovered by Coast Guardsmen from the Monongahela river near the Tenth street bridge in Pittsburgh.

Morgue officials said the body probably had been in the water 12 hours. The woman was five feet two inches weighing 120 pounds and had blue-hazel eyes and long bobbed hair.

IRAN PLEDGE BRINGS ZERO HOUR TO CHANNEL

The hour has been set! Stalin has been given solemn pledge that the U. S. and Britain will soon open a second front with a thrust across the English Channel to France by air, land and sea. Many experts give early February as the most likely time agreed upon. Attacks from "the East, West and South will be carried out relentlessly" warned the official statement following the Teheran conferences. This map shows the various directions in which blows may be struck simultaneously. The black area indicates the shortest cut across the Channel and the drawings show methods of landing, wire-blasting and attack.

Premier Smuts Has Conference With Roosevelt

South African Leader Hopeful European War Will End During Next Year

By PIERRE J. HUSS

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAIRO, Dec. 8.—Fervent hope the war in Europe will end next year was voiced today by Premier Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa in the wake of the latest in a series of international conferences which cemented Turkey's friendship with the Allied Nations.

Premier Smuts arrived in Cairo last night and dined with President Roosevelt as supplementary conferences bearing upon the latest tripartite meeting went forward in Cairo.

He spoke to news correspondents coincident with official disclosure that Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain had met with the kings of Greece and Yugoslavia, who now are living in exile in Cairo.

Convinced Of Victory

"After two months of extensive study in London," the bearded statesman and warrior said, "I am more convinced than ever of Allied victory."

"But a great war still is in front of us. The most critical situation has been in the diplomatic field, but we are now absolutely undivided for final victory."

Field Marshal Smuts was asked point-blank when he thought the war will end.

"I hope this will be the last Christmas of war," he said. "By next Christmas I hope we will be going home with victory in our pockets."

In addition to King George of Greece and King Peter of Yugoslavia, other foreign officials "within range" were brought into the supplementary sessions that continued without letup.

Political observers meanwhile were unanimous in saying that President Roosevelt had emerged as the central figure of the three conferences just concluded, where he placed the United States in the leading role in the shaping of things to come.

CONFERENCES ARE COSTLY

CAIRO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—International conferences cost a lot of money.

Official figures revealed today regarding the two historic meetings held at Mena House just outside Cairo disclosed the following:

Rental of hotel: $240 daily. Meals and other accommodations for conferees: $6,240 daily.

Rental of 43 villas needed by the various delegations: $12,000.

Rental of a so-called "silk palace" for an unidentified occupant: $6,000.

The British government paid all the bills.

North Street Home Damaged

Damage Of Over $1,000 Results From Blaze In Newly Remodeled Apartment

Five fire companies were called into action at 8:25 o'clock Tuesday evening, when five believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, caused over a thousand dollars damage to the apartment building at 23 East North street, owned by Dr. B. M. Rogers.

The fire got in between the walls, but firemen were able to check the spread of it, although it worked its way above the second floor.

Damage to the building was estimated at around $1,000, with an additional loss of around $200 to the contents.

The building has recently been leased and remodeled by the HOLC. Only one apartment was occupied, the tenant, John Slater and family.

At 12:43 o'clock this morning, firemen were summoned to East Main street, by a fire in a truck owned by John Kindall, of 734 East Main street. No action was taken.

Twenty-Six Ounce Baby Fails To Live

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Tiny Mary Ann Maceli, the 26-ounce baby who astounded medical science by clinging to a life physician's chest for three months, died early today in a Brooklyn hospital where she was born three months prematurely.

Hospital authorities withheld details of the mite's death pending arrival of the Maceli family physician, who brought her into the world 11 days ago.

Upon delivery attending obstetricians could detect no heart beat, but a few seconds later lusty cries informed them a spark of life was inside the incredibly small but struggling body.

Little Mary Ann was immediately placed in a special incubator. It was in this cotton-lined world, temperature and atmospheric conditions were automatically controlled, that one of the tiniest babies ever born alive took up the fight she was destined to lose.

Special diets—to stimulate her faint heart-throb and to furnish the little nourishment required for her sustenance—were prepared. Her normal temperature of 94 went up to 98, and two more ounces were added to her weight.

Then, today, death claimed the tiny mite.

BIG FIRE AT GREENSBURG

Sound Policy National Need

Uncertainty Of Government Attitude Towards Business Is Upsetting

POSTWAR PROGRAM IS BIG NECESSITY

By JEANETTE SMITS

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Tom Girdler told the National Association of Manufacturers today that "one of the great deterrents to war production and post-war planning is the uncertainty as to the over-all attitude of government toward business."

Emphasizing the need for a sound labor policy, a sound tax policy and an early determination of policies governing the termination of war contracts, the Republic Steel head asserted:

"No business man in his right mind expects to make a large profit out of war. That is a problem settled and disposed of. I hope for all time. But it is no friend of the American enterprise system who interprets the barrier to large profits to mean that industry must not be allowed to provide for its own post-war survival."

CASH INCOME OF FARMERS GROWS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(INS)—The war food administration announced today that farmers' cash income during October rose to two billion, 264 million dollars—an increase of 164 percent over the nearly two billion dollar estimate for September.

Other announcements on the farm front were also made by W. F. A.: 1. Farm real estate values continued their upward trend during the four months ended November 1, 1943, with a national increase of about three percent—threatening another inflation boom.

2. During November, American consumers found fancy large eggs scarce while there was "an ample supply" of cheaper fresh eggs.

W. F. A. said that farmers' income from crops was 26 percent greater from January through October than in 1942, and that receipts from livestock and livestock products jumped 27 percent above last year.

Position Considered Second Only To Viceroy Sir Archibald Wavell

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(INS)—It was reliably learned in London today that Robert G. Casey, minister of state in Cairo, is the most likely choice for the important post of governor of Bengal.

The position of governor of Bengal is considered the second most important job in India—next only to that of Viceroy Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell.

DIPLOMATS BELIEVE TURKEY WILL ENTER
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—"Diplomatic observers in London today reflect the view that Turkey's entrance into the war is imminent," an N.B.C. reporter in London declared in a broadcast today.

Contrary to the general view that Turkey will delay taking military action for some months these observers feel a Turkish declaration of war may come much sooner than expected, he said.

Acceleration Of Advance Toward Rome Forecast

Capture By Allies Of Camino-Maggiore Mountain Passes By Allies Reported

BATTLE FOR HIGH GROUND IS WON

By GRAHAM HOVEY

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Dec. 8.—British and American troops of the Fifth Army today won the battle for the Camino-Maggiore mountain passes.

If the American forces battling westward on the high ground north of the main highway to Cassino and Rome can achieve the same results an accelerated advance toward Rome can be expected shortly.

Reports from the Italian front indicated that although much hard fighting and meticulous mopping up and consolidating lies ahead in the Camino-Maggiore area the issue has been decided.

Hold Dominating Heights

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops now hold all the major dominating heights on both mountains and have good observation of the Cassino highway in the valley to the west where the Liri river flows into the Garigliano.

The German forces continue to resist bitterly on the outer fringes of uplands to the north and west but in some sectors the Allied troops have broken all the way through to the western slopes.

American troops of Maggioro concentrated principally on the job of mopping up isolated pockets of resistance in the tortuous terrain and consolidating the dominating positions they have gained.

Farther south, on Camino, the British captured the village bearing the same name as the mountain and two localities known as Cocuzzo and Acquapendola. Camino village is three miles southwest of Mignano and the two others are two miles farther southwest.

British Counter-Attack

On the southernmost slopes of Camino the British troops launched a powerful counter-attack which dislodged the Germans from positions they had recaptured yesterday on the high feature which the Tommies have nicknamed Monastery Ridge. This British inflicted heavy losses in this attack and found many dead German soldiers on the crest. They undoubtedly had been ordered to hold to the last man.

But the only report on fighting north of the highway today said American forces were consolidating positions won yesterday west of Filignano. Nothing was said about any fighting between the sector west of Filignano and the German defenses along the Eighth Army front endeavored to slow up the British advance with a series of counter-attacks, concentrated just inland from (Continued On Page Two)

A successful and impressive Communion Breakfast was held by the Madonna Sodality on Sunday morning, with fifty girls in attendance. The occasion also was highlighted by an election of officers.

After receiving communion in a group, the Sodality offered it as a triduum for the Pope. Prayer and song to the Blessed Virgin launched the breakfast feature, offered by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Pikulik.

Election of officers ensued: Helen Rycza, who was re-elected as president; Frances Giesek as vice-president; Frances Giesek as secretary and Clara Pilch, treasurer.

A special remembrance was presented to Sister M. Cecelia.

A War Bond was awarded at the gathering to H. Ostroski.

PLAN FOR POSTWAR PERIOD

IT IS self-evident that if this country is to come successfully through the trying period of postwar readjustment, it must follow a well-planned course.

That explains why hardly a day passes without some advice on one phase or another of the whole complex problem of shifting back from an economy of war to an economy of peace.

The number of these schemes lends emphasis to a presentation of a broad view taken by Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. He makes the point that although management, labor, agriculture and government often have their disagreements, they are bound together by the strongest ties and that in unity they have the strength to overcome all obstacles.

In the hope of attaining unity in combatting postwar confusion, Mr. Johnston delivers a charge to each of these elements in our national life.

Management, he says, must understand that unionization is here to stay; that unit profits must be held low to increase unit sales; that high wages should go hand in hand with a high level of production; and that "monopoly is a sissy way of doing business," invoked only by those frightened by their own inefficiency.

Labor, he declares, must abandon policies which put the brake on production, must clean its own house to end abuses which have crept into some unions, and must make all unions more free, more democratic and more socially minded.

Agriculture, he advises, must lower costs and increase efficiency; recognize that "an economy of scarcity is an economy of ruin," and realize that only when management and labor are prosperous can farm produce be absorbed.

Government, he contends, must become aware that taking a dollar from one man and handing it to another does not increase purchasing power; that individual productivity must be encouraged; that taxes should not keep investment risk capital from making new jobs for people; that greatest progress will come with the maximum of private enterprise and the minimum of government regulation consistent with our complex economy.

All of these things have been said before, but their value has been lessened because they have been stated separately. Brought together, however, as they have been by Mr. Johnston, they present an over-all plan for a road which can take us most directly into a period of this country's greatest development.

MUST COMBAT FIRE CAUSES

Every year the nation observes Fire Prevention Week. This year the week, proclaimed early in October by the president, took on new significance. Because, while we have taken the offensive against the Axis, we are still on the defensive as far as fire is concerned.

That fire prevention should be made a 52-week program was graphically illustrated by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York when he recently said: "It is a matter of record that fire loss in the United States, during the year 1942, amounted to $315,000,000, according to the figures of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Thus, in our first year, we lost $15,000,000 more by fire than normal. It is also a matter of record that in two years the Nazis, with their bombing, inflicted damage on Great Britain amounting to $480,000,000, very little more than our loss by fire (in one year)."

"Our nation must make every effort to avoid losses which injure our war effort and delay victory. It is the duty of all of us to be vigilant against such aid to the enemy."

When Governor Dewey appealed to "all of us" he put his finger on the secret of effective fire prevention. The enemy, fire, cannot be routed by an army of planes and tanks. It is not that simple. It cannot be seen and smashed once and for all like a Panzer division. No squad of paratroopers is needed to subdue a pile of oily rags in a dark corner; merely the attention of one person, a person alert to the deadly menace of combustion.

"All of us" working in thousands of small, often unobserved ways, can convert most uncontrollable fires before they start. That was the lesson that was hammered home during Fire Prevention Week. We must not forget it.

GETTING CLOSE TO KEY JAP BASE

American bomber raids on Hare Island in the Kapingamarangi group mark a deep penetration of island barriers protecting the main Japanese base at Truk.

Hare Island is only 400 miles from Truk—easy flying distance. The Liberator that attacked installations there last Thursday, and those that preceded it on two other occasions recently, came evidently from the Solomons. The Japs made good use of a seaplane base on Hare in the Japanese seizure of Rabaul, the base commanding the southwest area which is now an Allied objective. Now we are using recaptured bases to thrust in the opposite direction.

The road taken by the Japs in their swift advance is not a one-way street. It may be traveled toward Tokio as well as toward Australia and Hawaii. One base leads to another. The stab so close to Truk is just the precursor of other bigger ones to come.

We hear a lot about the untapped reservoir of manpower in the government service where bureaucratic payrollers are said to be stepping on one another's toes. Here's another suggestion. Why not cut down the supply of radio announcers and let one guy do it for all the programs? Or better yet, why have any announcers?

One of our friends says that after reading on one page of his newspaper that the Germans have more soldiers than in 1939 and reading on another page, their lines are crumbling from lack of men, he doesn't need any of that scarce whiskey to make him dizzy.

It is reported that a luminous theatre seat has been invented to guide movie-goers in the dark. This is O.K. for the couple coming in but how about those who are already seated and holding hands?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

AID AFFLICTED CHILD

If you have a child with a physical handicap, do your utmost to have it corrected, in case it will respond to surgical or other medical treatment, as in such cases as birthmark on the face, hare-lip, or club foot. Until this can be done, or if it can't be done, your first problem is to accept the handicap yourself. Your next is to guide your child to do so. The second is hardly possible before the first.

Every time you look at the child's physical handicap you stare at it with painful stirrings inside you and if you constantly have hampering emotions over it, you will reveal your inner disturbances to the child. Also you will to other adults by the way you talk and act toward them concerning your child's handicap.

In case your child, as he grows older, has not learned to accept his handicap he will suffer, he will try to hide it and invent all sorts of explanations or excuses for it. Worse still, he may acquire such resentment over it as to build up all sorts of unfavorable behavior and personality quirks. Some physically handicapped children become hard problems of discipline in the home, school or community. These reactions are more likely to result from small handicaps which are only irregular in appearance than over large handicaps such as the loss of an arm, leg, hand or foot.

Desirable Compensation

On the other hand, many a handicapped child who accepts his handicap acquires desirable compensations, even appearing to be the more attractive just because of the handicap. When he forgets it himself others are less likely to notice it.

A keen mother writes to describe another mother who has proved very successful at helping her handicapped child make the most of it.

"The little daughter has been afflicted since birth. She is crippled in her ankles and knees and cannot walk freely. She has to wear thick lenses to straighten a weak eye. She has a hard time talking because of a speech defect and she has never grown as she should. She is now 13 and very brilliant in her work at school."

Joan's Victory

"Her mother has taught her that she is afflicted and always will be, that she cannot run and play as other children run and play, but that she is very dear to her parents and friends."

"Joan has the sweetest spirit of any child I know. Children love to come and play games that she can join in. Her mother does not allow her to go much to other homes, unless they are carefully supervised homes, for fear she will be hurt physically. Joan knows that and accepts it, she is thankful that she can have as much company as she likes."

"She gladly goes to bed an hour earlier than normal children her age, in order that she might conserve her strength for school, where both teachers and pupils treat her as an equal, and where she is loved. She can never go out to play in the rough and tumble with others. Often a classmate will choose to sit and play a game with her at recess; at other times she stands by an open window watching the fun and shouting encouragement to the others."

"I am sure you felt uplifted as you read about Joan's victory. I did."

Ruin for Whom?

Hitler has every reason to try to persuade the German people, as he did in his speech of November 20, just belatedly given to the world, that in the present war it is a case for them of victory or ruin.

That is absolutely true for Hitler and his gang of insiders. Defeat in the war would ruin the Fuehrer. More than his power, wealth, and reputation would be gone; he could hardly escape with his life. His schemes of empire would be proved to be only the mad dream of a conscienceless mentally unstable visionary.

But his fall would not be the ruin of the German people. It is true they would have to pay the penalty for the folly, and with many the unscrupulousness, which led them to follow him in his career of treachery, slaughter and looting from one end of Europe to another.

But they would be free from the terrors loosed on them from the air. They would recover their liberty, their enjoyment of elementary human rights. They would be rescued from the brutalities of the Gestapo and the malice and blackmail of spies.

They need not fear the economic ruin and the serfdom which Hitler designed for millions of other Europeans. They could not be boycotted or excluded from the economic freedom of the rest of the continent without hurt to the entire European family. They might need long years of disciplining and restraint by armed might. But they, too, would share in the benefits which the restoration of law in international relations would bring. Hitler would work out of their emancipation if they refrained, or were restrained by force, from following new misleaders.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

HIS ANCESTORS

An Englishman fond of boasting of his ancestry, took a coin from his pocket and, pointing to the head engraved on it, said: "My great-great-grandfather was made a lord by the king, whose picture you see on this shilling."

"What a coincidence," said the American companion, who at once produced another coin. "My great-great-grandfather was made an angel by the Indian whose picture you see on this cent."

This is the time of the year when pork is plentiful. The farmers want to sell it to save feed for another crop.

There are two things now some people will do anything to get—gas and liquor.

Yet old-timers can remember when a girl had red lips without anything he could taste except her.

Heard in a doctor's office: "The doctor told a woman patient that she needed a stimulant."

"He asked to see my tongue and then said I needed a stimulant," the woman told her husband. And he exclaimed:

"Good heavens! I do hope he didn't give you a stimulant for that, dear."

A good scare is worth more to a man than good advice.

WHAT ARE SERVICE PLATES?

"Please tell me when and how service plates are used? I just had some given to me which are entirely different from my china. Is this correct?"—Mrs. S.

Answer: The service plate is that which is placed at each cover when the table is set. It may match the set used at the meal, but frequently it is of a different pattern.

For everyday purposes, few families in moderate circumstances use service plates, but when used this is the procedure in the perfectly set table. The first course, brought in on its own plate, is placed on top of the service plate. When this course is finished, the used plate is removed, leaving the service plate. Then the soup plate is placed on it. Therefore, there are always two plates under the first two courses.

The service plate is removed along with the soup plate and a dinner or entree plate takes the place of the two removed.

According to the strictest rules of etiquette, faultless dinner service demands a plate in front of each guest at all times.

Question: What is the difference between the first bridesmaid and the maid-of-honor?—Gertrude.

Answer: There is no difference, really, in their duties. When there is no maid-of-honor or first bridesmaid is appointed "first bridesmaid" she dresses to match the others and walks along with them.

When she approaches the altar, she stands to the left of and slightly behind the bride that she may hold the latter's bouquet and arrange her train and veil as she arrives at and leaves the altar. After the ceremony, she takes her place with the other bridesmaids who walk two by two down the aisle behind the bride.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Like most newspapermen I get a load of press releases from the government, and like most newspapermen I try to help the war effort all I can.

But I wonder sometimes whether the government reads its own publications.

On my desk is a release from the Treasury Department, telling me about its new discovery, THE SQUANDER BUG.

You'll see its pictures a whole lot from now, leering at you from billboards, posters, cartoons and what not, telling you to "starve the Squander Bug" by not spending any money for useless things—particularly Christmas presents and buy War Bonds instead.

This is what the press release says:

"The Squander Bug is particularly active around Christmas time when he gobbles up quantities of money in shoppers' wild scrambles to buy useless gifts the recipients don't need or want. Anti-Squander Bug publicity will emphasize that hoards are the 'present with a future' and the recipe that starves the Squander Bug to extinction."

I agree completely that we should all buy War Bonds to the limits of our capacity.

But I claim most energetically that the government has no right to tell people that they should not go to the stores to buy Christmas presents.

Buying useless Christmas gifts has long been one of our most cherished prerogatives.

It's our way of expressing our sentiment for people.

And where would the Treasury Department be without appeal to our sentiment?

Patriotism is based on sentiment. Love is sentiment. Devotion is sentiment. Sacrifice is sentiment.

Surely, I am going to buy War Bonds, but for those I love I am going to buy the most useless presents I can find, even if they come from a ten-cent store.

What child is there that doesn't enjoy a useless little toy more than the finest pair of gloves?

And how about that Squander Bug?

Where was it discovered? Where does it live?

In Washington, dear friends, in Washington!

Where thousands of tons of papers are squandered on press releases and questionnaires and pamphlets.

Where cockeyed schemes originate that squander billions of the taxpayers' money.

Where thousands of man-hours are squandered in useless conferences and millions of words are blown into the air in foolish talk.

Kill the Squander Bug—kill him as dead as I hope they'll kill Hitler.

But kill him at his source in his breeding place—Washington.

And please, leave our Christmas alone.

SCOUT LEADERS' WIVES

Here is the sacrificial life. Who is the Boy Scout leader's wife. For all alone at home she stays. While he is tramping woodland ways.

While she sits waiting for her square He teaches boys the art of care. And while the hours go dragging by He teaches boys how knots to tie. And while for him she burns a lamp He spends six weeks or more in camp.

The Boy Scout leaders' wife must be As wise in many arts as he. Must learn to stretch a meal for four.

At times for eight or nine or more; When friends of his drop into town; And never scold and never frown. At midnight when he brings them back.

And asks for coffee and a snack; And never sighs when on the phone He tells her she must dine alone.

The Boy Scout leader's wife must be As fond of boyhood as is he. And see the far off future when Our country will have need of men, Good men, intelligent and true, And able men, its tasks to do. And honest men, and clean and strong.

And men too big to stoop to wrong. And never shed a consoling tear. The wife of such an absentee. (Copyright, 1943, Edgar A. Guest)

Postwar City

Planning

The State Planning Board, instituted by Governor Martin to stimulate municipal planning for a post-war public works program, is giving the very sound advice that such programs be kept in line with something that can be afforded rather than to let desires run away with sound reasoning.

"The very essence of wise planning is planning according to financial strength," says State Commerce Secretary Floyd Chalfant, board chairman, in a letter to municipal heads.

No community can afford to spend more than it receives. Therefore a conservative appraisal of the community's finances should be the first step in postwar planning.

There are places which, with an eye to the postwar future, have been building financial reserves for the physical development of the community. Others will do well to take action on such matter as quickly as they possibly can.

Community projects, many of them necessary because of war postponements, can furnish a respectable number of jobs in the postwar readjustment period. Therefore there is wisdom in the State Planning Board's admonition that "if such action has not yet been taken in your community, you are urged to consider carefully the advisability of doing so.—Grit.

OWI Irate Over Handling of Patton Case
West Coast Cities May Feel War Further
OPA Cuts Down Proposed Coal Price Jump

By HELEN ESSARY

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—OWI officials are incensed over the public relations job on the so-called "Patton incident"—the war department's withholding of the news for over three months.

As a result, OWI officials believe, the case was "played" by the press out of its true proportions and a tremendous furor raised. OWI says it was not apprised of the incident until the public in general heard the story over the radio.

OWI officials believe the public got a wrong impression as a result of the way the story "leaked" out and one representative of the agency expressed belief that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had gotten some bad public relations advice.

Incidentally, one of the best remarks in Washington came from a reporter following Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson's press conference in which he announced that he would ask for a full explanation of the incident from Eisenhower.

Reporters were gathered in the news room following the conference discussing the ramifications of the incident in which Patton had slapped a shell-shocked soldier in a Sicilian field hospital. One of the newsmen remarked:

"Everybody in Washington is eating turkey today and the war department is eating crow."

Stimson admitted to reporters that the war department had been informed "generally" about the slapping, but had taken no action then.

Already crowded west coast cities are going to be busier than ever from now on as the Pacific campaign to crush the Japs gains momentum. The Navy is trying to prepare for the situation by transferring some construction work on warships and other craft to the Atlantic coast, but this will be only a drop in the bucket.

As the months go by, civilians will find it more and more difficult to get accommodations on trains and planes heading for California. Personnel of the armed forces, of course will have priority. The west coast will then get a taste of what the east has been going through since the opening of the North African campaign.

What makes the situation worse is the fact that the west coast does not have the port facilities available to the Atlantic coast. This means that the good ports out west can expect jams unequalled to date anywhere else.

Members of the house military affairs aviation sub-committee returned from their two-week inspection tour of South American air bases much impressed by what they had seen. But pending an official committee report, they were not talking for publication.

The congressmen went as far south as Rio De Janeiro, looking over air transport command bases including the "jump-off" aerial port at Natal.

"The best thing about the trip," said one, "was the fact that we all got along so well together during two weeks of travel in the same plane. There was no grumbling or griping—ever about having to roll out at 5 a. m. some mornings."

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, who earned the wrath of the War Labor Board for signing a contract with the United Mine Workers while the miners were on strike, also has the OPA angry for the easy manner in which he promised price increases to the operators.

"The thing that happened is just what you could expect when you turn price control over to a guy who is interested only in production," one high OPA official snorted.

Ickes, interested only in mining coal, provided the miners with $150 a day more pay and then started battling for a steep coal price increase to compensate the operators.

OPA balked and trimmed Ickes' price boost suggestion more than 10 cents a ton. The agency also knocked down Ickes' glowing predictions of the increase in production that would result from the new contract.

Ickes figured on a 14 per cent boost in coal production, the miners working 15 minutes of their lunch time. OPA is still laughing.

"The miners don't have a regular lunch period," an OPA official said. "They eat off and on all during the day."

Man Is Charged With Sex Slaying Of Small Girl

DENVER, Dec. 8.—(INS)—An armed guard was thrown around the county jail at Suburban Littleton today to prevent possible mob action against Frank Hubert Martz, 33-year-old army mess sergeant charged with the brutal sex slaying of a three-year-old girl.

Officers said they were taking no chances of violence after discovery of the battered body of little Kathleen Ann Geist.

The body was found stuffed into a curtained cubbyhole beneath the sink in the kitchen of a small house where Martz had an apartment off the nearby Fort Logan army post where he was stationed.

Kathleen was the daughter of Mrs. Ann Geist, domestic employee in the home of an officer at Fort Logan.

First degree murder charges were filed against Martz by District Attorney Richard H. Simon who said the soldier noticed the blue-eyed child in a tavern at Englewood, a nearby suburb of Denver. Simon said Mrs. Geist was playing a skill machine with another woman and did not see the soldier lure Kathleen from the tavern with him "to buy a bunny rabbit and some candy."

New Directories In Hands Of Public

New Issue Sees Most Changes
Here In Past Quarter
Of Century

New 1943 directories, information for which was gathered during the late part of the summer by the Burch Directory Company, of Akron, O., are now in the hands of the public and filled a long-felt need.

Perhaps no two-year period in the city's history has seen as many changes in the population as the past two, or since the last directory was issued in 1941.

Since that time, many new people have come here to work in local war industries, and others have left here for new fields. In addition, there was a considerable shifting around of the population because of sales of property.

In addition to the great street directory and the listing of names alphabetically, there is also a listing of telephone users by numerical order.

HILLSVILLE MAN HAS FOUGHT JAPS

Master Sgt. Bart Veltra, Jr.,

Wounded Twice, Has Been

In Five Engagements

December 7 brought poignant memories to Master Sgt. Bart Veltra, of Hillsville, for two years ago on that date, he was wounded the first time when the Japs made their sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.

Since then, Sgt. Veltra, recovered from a wound through the foot he had received on that occasion, went on to fight the Japs again, finishing up in aerial photography work with the air force, which has taken him all over the South Pacific and even as far as Calcutta, India. He was finally sent home when he got a burst of shrapnel in the leg and face.

Sgt. Veltra, just 20 years of age, has been in the service since he was 16 years of age, but is a seasoned soldier now with an honorable record of achievement, and five tough battles against the Japs. He also wears the Purple Heart for his wounds.

He fought against the Japs at Midway, where he was a radio operator on a transport, and later at Guadalcanal and Munda.

After being wounded a second time, he went to a hospital in New Zealand and later was treated in Honolulu, before being sent home. He will be here until the last of December, when he has to report to the Walter Reed hospital in Washington, D. C., for further treatment.

Culliford Tells

Of First Aid Work

Program Of Lawrence County

Chapter Is Explained By

First Aid Chairman

H. J. Culliford, chairman of the First Aid program of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, gave an interesting talk on First Aid before members of the Lions Club at their noon luncheon meeting, in The Castleton, Tuesday at noon.

Mr. Culliford, who has had charge of this work for a number of years, stated that figures for the year 1941 reveal that there were 102,500 accidental deaths in the United States, of which 31,500 alone occurred in the homes from falls, burns, electric shocks and various causes. In the same period of time, only 14,000 men were killed in the armed forces in action against the enemy, the number of fatalities in the home being double the number of war casualties for one year, and slightly more than the war casualties for the two years of the war.

He stated that the theory behind teaching first aid was more that of prevention than to care for the victims of the accidents, although a first aider has both in mind.

In Lawrence county, he stated, there are 140 trained Red Cross first aid instructors, and 5,000 trained first aiders.

Guests of the club included Major R. L. Moore, of Camp Atterbury, Ind., and Charles L. Sellers of Meadville.

In addition to Mr. Culliford's talk, three children from Ben Franklin school presented a program in connection with the annual Christmas Seal sale by the local Tuberculosis Society. They presented a living picture of the current Christmas seal, and gave the history of the Christmas seal and what it has done to cut down tuberculosis in the country. The program was under direction of Miss Margaret Griffiths of the Ben Franklin faculty, and those taking part were Shirley West, Vivian Ketola and Norma Karki.

AROUND CITY HALL

When John F. Haven assumes the role of mayor next month his annual salary will be $4,000, or $1,000 more than has been paid Mayor Davies B. Mayne. Messrs D. O. Davies and Albert A. Hayward, re-elected, will be sworn in as new members of council and will receive the $3,500 rate, but Councilmen Joseph D. Alexander and James Gibson, hold-overs, will draw only $2,500, as at present. State law decrees that incumbents cannot raise their own salary. However, they can increase the salaries of incoming members, an ordinance to this effect was adopted months ago. Years ago the highest rate paid a mayor was $3,600. The depression brought a cut like those given city employees. The latter received a raise last year and will receive a 5 per cent increase this year.

City council proposes to go slow on new equipment in 1944, only $32,600 having been appropriated for new equipment and included in this is $7,000 for a new sweeper ordered more than a year ago and but recently approved by the WPB.

Here are a few lines from the tentative budget of approximately $736,000 which will require a tax millage of 13 to procure: salaries of assistants in mayor's office, $1,920; assistants in finance office, $2,000; city clerk, $2,356.80; city assessor, $2,217.60; city solicitor, $2,700; and assistant, $1,260; and clerks, $4,800; controller, $2,500; license tax collector appropriation, $850; city treasurer, $3,850; and of assistants, $8,300; janitors will draw $3,528.

There was appropriation of $27,500 for the library from a 1/2 mill and the proposed appropriation for recreation was set at $10,155.60; playgrounds, $5,500; and major equipment, $6,500; Sylvan Heights, $9,950; swimming pool, $2,560, and a capital outlay there, $3,000; Cascade Park, $13,000. According to the tentative figures there will be $41,165.60 expended for all recreation with a capital outlay of $9,500, or approximately $50,665.60. Recreation in 1944 is expected, according to reports to help solve juvenile delinquency.

For police protection there tentatively has been set aside $114,426.40. Three thousand five hundred dollars will be expended for motor and other new equipment and $122,429.80 has been affixed for fire protection with $2,400 for new motor equipment. These arms which must be ready and efficient at all times will require a total of $238,111.00 and $5,900 for new equipment, as stated.

One of the departments enlarged last year that of health and sanitation will require $98,565.40. The capital outlay will be $6,550. This includes the garbage bureau. Miscellaneous appropriations required will total $64,350. The city will present $3,000 to the police pension fund as required by state law and pay $9,600 for compensation and liability. Only one thousand dollars has been appropriated for military and civic contributions.

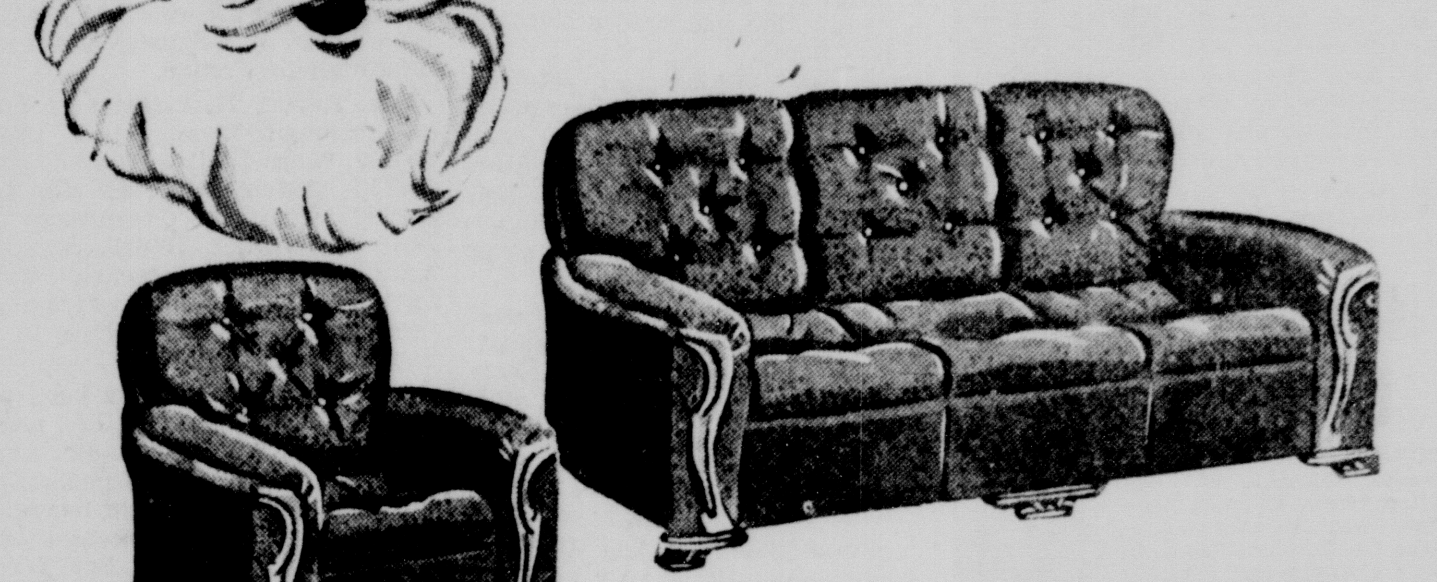

It is likely there will be considerable delay in erecting the board in honor of boys and girls in military service on the Public Square, the ex-service men's organizations in charge having learned the contractors have been unable to secure the necessary material.

Turns Back Nearly All Of Appropriation

Government Sponsored Corporation Makes Notable Record For War Service

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 8.—(INS)—When a government-sponsored corporation, at the close of its program, turns back to the U. S. Treasury 99 per cent of the appropriation originally allotted to it—that's news.

Such is the record of the Steel Recovery Corporation which balances its books at the end of this month theoretically by handing a check to Uncle Sam for 270 million dollars.

According to Charles F. Cruciger, president of the corporation, the secret of the organization, which was formed 17 months ago under the emergency program to transport thousands of tons of idle and excess steel into war-production channels, is that it "effected savings on government purchases of supplies nearly equal to the entire cost of its operation."

Because stockpiles of idle and excess steel in the country have now been reduced to "modest and manageable proportions," Cruciger said, future distribution will be handled by Regional War Production Board offices.

Some idea of the variety of organization's functions during its short lifetime were cited by its president, who recalled that: In connection with the manufacture of servicemen's identification tags and chains, we located and purchased idle stainless steel formerly used for ice pans in refrigerators.

"This," Cruciger added, "made possible the substitution of this material for silver. In this single deal, a unit cost saving of over 30 cents was effected on government orders totalling more than seven million units."

Resume Hearing In Triple Crime

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 8.—(INS)—The Mercer County grand jury reconvened today in its consideration of the Wilson farm triple-murder case and a decision was expected to be handed down soon.

William Morell, 20, a Mercer County resident, is charged with slaying his wife and the mother of his child, and a fellow farm hand, Mrs. Helen Wilson, 70, and strangled to death Mrs. Helen Wilson, 46.

Everett N. Wilson, owner of the farm where his wife, mother, and the farm hand were killed, was ill in Washington and did not appear yesterday as a witness before the grand jury. Wilson was in Canada when Morell is alleged to have shot and killed Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 76, and Robert McKay, 70, and strangled to death Mrs. Helen Wilson, 46.

If Morell and Miss Graham are indicted by the grand jury and plead guilty to the charges of the indictment, they will face trial in quarter sessions court in Mercer next week.

The chief executive announced at his news conference that he will re-name Gelder as head of the state's $125,000,000 liquor monopoly for a six-year term at $10,000 annually.

"My decision," he declared, "shows my entire confidence in the integrity of Senator Gelder and the ability he has shown in the difficult job that he has had to perform."

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN GIVEN TEMPORARY JOBS

Man-Power Problem Since War Has Confronted Mayor, Davies

One of the problems that has confronted Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Safety Director D. O. Davies and possibly may also confront John F. Haven when he becomes the city's chief executive is the manpower question. For two years past it has been necessary time and again to add men temporarily to the police and fire bureaus. Since Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, the problem has been serious.

Firemen and police can only become permanent job-holders after they have successfully passed civil service examinations. However, since the war began, civil service examinations have been abandoned whenever men from those departments donated armed service uniforms their places were filled by men appointed temporarily.

Some of the men appointed temporarily had already passed civil service test, but were not appointed because they were not needed then. Since men left civil service posts to fight for their country the mayor and city council decided to suspend civil service rules. Upon the return of police and firemen fighting as soldiers, sailors and marines, will be restored to their jobs, they report.

The situation was somewhat similar in 1917-18 although not as critical as now.

Says Nazis Sought To Disrupt Parley Held At Teheran

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(INS)—The Daily Mail in a Cairo dispatch today said the Germans "made a desperate, hopeless attempt" to wreck the Teheran conference between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin, by dropping agents via parachute in an effort to rouse the disaffected Persian tribesmen.

Most of the parachutists were rounded up quickly, the Daily Mail said, and against the few that remained uncaught "special precautions were taken."

Some months ago, a meeting of certain leaders of the County Emergency Medical group, and City OCD representatives, was held at the city office, and arrangements made for certain changes which would permit the issuing of this equipment to city groups of the Emergency Medical Corps, but to date the city office has heard nothing further from their request made to officials of the County Emergency Medical Corps.

FANTASTIC PLOT CHARGED IN CASE

Claim Mother And Daughter Sought To Wipe Out Rest Of Family

COVINGTON, Ky., Dec. 8.—(INS)—A fantastic plot by a mother and daughter to wipe out other members of a prominent Covington, Ky., family was charged today after filing of a murder warrant against Mrs. Jennie Kiger, 49.

Her daughter, Joan, pretty 17-year-old school girl, previously had been charged with the double slaying of the father, Carl C. Kiger, 45, vice mayor and city commissioner of Covington, and her brother, Jerry, 6, on August 17.

Raymond L. Vincent, commonwealth attorney of Boone county, said he had "a strong case" against both mother and daughter, but "stronger against the girl than the mother."

Vincent's affidavit, which resulted in issuance of the warrant against Mrs. Kiger by County Judge Carroll Cropper, stated that either the mother or daughter had "aided and abetted" the other in carrying out the slayings.

Kiger, a city commissioner for seven years and generally credited with controlling the five-man commission, and the boy Jerry, were shot to death in the early morning hours of August 17, in a recently acquired $12,000 summer home near Devon, Ky.

The alarm was given by Joan. Police found Kiger dead in his bed and the boy dead in a nearby room. Mrs. Kiger had suffered a gunshot wound in the hip.

Investigators had given no previous hint that the mother was suspected of having been involved in the slayings.

Mrs. Kiger was not taken into custody when her attorney immediately posted $25,000 bond for her appearance next Monday.

The daughter also has been at liberty under $25,000 bond.

Major Robb Loses Arm While Deer Hunting In State

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Army officials revealed today that Maj. Harry M. Robb, Jr., 36, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and George Washington University, lost an arm as the result of a deer-hunting accident last week near Driftwood.

He was shot by mistake by another officer, said his father, Harry M. Robb, Sr. The army refused to reveal the other officer's name.

Maj. Robb formerly was a practicing surgeon at DuBois before joining the Middletown Air Base.

"Harry told me," his father said, "that he was shot by a member of the hunting party, one of his best friends, who saw him coming through the brush and thought he was a fox."

The Major's right arm was amputated at the shoulder, where the soft-nosed bullet had torn through in Deshon General Hospital.

Police Fear Gang Slaying Feuds Are Developing

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Two slayings within 24 hours—both in true gangland fashion—convinced police that a series of "ride" murders redolent of the "terrible 20's" might be in the making.

First victim was Joseph Labadessa, 30, of Brooklyn, whose bullet-riddled body was found in the street yesterday where, apparently, it had been tossed from a moving car.

Then, early today, with typical gangster arrogance, Leonard Malone, 36, also a Brooklynite, was shot to death within sight of police headquarters.

Unofficial conjectures had it that the underworld was struggling for control of the city's increased bootlegging activities, fostered by the liquor shortage.

SANTA HANDS OUT LIST OF FIRE SAFETY RULES

BOSTON, Dec. 8.—Flame-proofed whiskers for Santa Claus are among the Christmas suggestions of the National Fire Protection Association.

Others are: Keep Christmas trees standing in water while in the house, have each tree well secured, away from all sources of heat, and away from doorways; use electric light bulbs instead of candles for lighting; be sure the wiring is in good order; don't allow old Christmas wrappings to accumulate; and if fire does start—call the fire department at once.

The stars show only when the sun isn't shining. If little troubles prey on your mind, you have no big ones.

Turkey Is Seen As Placed Deeper In Allied Camp

Announcement Is Made Of Conference Of Allied And Turkish Leaders

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
CAIRO, Dec. 8.—A new international conference placing Turkey deeper into the Allied camp but still preserving her neutrality and abstention from war was announced in Cairo last night.

The new meeting, which followed close upon the momentous Anglo-American-Soviet deliberations at Teheran, had for its principals President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Ismet Inonu of Turkey.

Its major development was an interchange of conversations "most useful and fruitful for future relations" among the United States, Great Britain and Turkey. A formal communique issued after the deliberations were completed spoke of the "identity of interests" among the three nations and reaffirmed the "strength and friendship" of the Anglo-Turkish alliance.

Pact Never Invoked

This treaty, signed on October 9, 1939, provided for collaboration of Turkey with Great Britain and France in event of any act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean. The pact was invoked by Britain.

The primary question of the conference was Turkey's ultimate war intentions. The consensus was that for the time being any immediate Turkish plunge into hostilities on the side of the Allies is unlikely unless Germany precipitates them.

Additional indirect aid may be given the Allies such as the possible granting of air bases and opening of the Dardanelles to passage of Allied warships.

"Non-Shooting" Steps

Other "non-shooting" steps gradually swinging Turkey to the Allied side in the Black Sea area may possibly be anticipated.

In actual point of fact, however, widespread belief in Cairo was that the conference itself did not go beyond the following:

- 1—Possibility of a more active part in the war by Turkey.
- 2—Possibility of the Allies obtaining military concessions similar to Portugal's cession of the Azores for duration of hostilities.
- 3—Settlement of Turkey's status as a Balkan power.
- 4—Settlement of Turko-Soviet relations and delineation of their respective post-war interests in the Danubian zones.
- 5—Establishment of a solid eastern front block from the Arctic to the Mediterranean.

GUFFEY CENTER OF CONTROVERSY

Southern And Northern Democratic Senators In Party Feud At Washington

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The long-smoldering feud between southern Democrats and northern New Dealers burst into the open today with such violence that its repercussions may affect a possible fourth term for President Roosevelt.

The bitter attack by Sen. Byrd of Virginia and Bailey of North Carolina on a leading New Deal spokesman in congress, Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, provided the first real view of a deep-seated cleavage within the party that has worried Democratic leaders for months.

These leaders fear that if this division is not checked soon, the Democratic convention may split wide open on the issue of the New Deal and seriously cripple the drive of fourth term advocates.

The significance of the Byrd-Bailey-Guffey outburst lay in the fact that the two southerners literally removed the gloves of senatorial courtesy to launch a personal as well as a political attack on the Pennsylvania senator.

In demanding that Guffey resign as chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, Byrd accused his colleague of uttering a "contemptible lie," while Bailey made indirect references to long-standing charges that Guffey had once failed to settle a federal tax claim against him.

At one point, Bailey threatened a bolt of southern Democrats from the party, saying:

"If we must be in a party in which we are scorned as 'southern Democrats,' we will find our party."

The controversy was touched off by Guffey's accusation of last week that southern Democrats and Republicans had joined in an "unholy alliance" to upset a senate bill providing a federal absentee ballot for servicemen. It was this statement which Byrd branded a "contemptible lie."

Congressional leaders say that the demonstration on the senate floor yesterday reflected a situation that exists among Democrats not only in the senate but the house as well. Such issues as the anti-poll tax bill, the anti-lynching measure, the question of states' rights and the infiltration of left-wingers into places of power in the party have worked a deep schism between northern New Dealers and the southerners.

It is no secret in Washington that several southern members have stated privately in recent months that they would rather go down with the New Deal in defeat than see it continue in power.

DEATH RATE IN PLANTS

HIGHER THAN AT FRONT

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—(INS)—A "seventh column"—carelessness that causes accidents—was blamed today by Bennett Moore, vice-president of the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, for a toll since Pearl Harbor that "challenges every American."

He declared that industrial accidents since the United States entered the war have caused 182,000 deaths, compared with 28,000 American casualties at the fighting front.

The sullen slaves of the swastika have come up against a force they cannot master and scarcely comprehend.

It is independence—the common heritage of Americans. Freedom of religion, speech, thought and individual enterprise. The right of every American, within reasonable limits, to enjoy the rewards that his own work may bring.

This is the force that made America. It is devoted today to all-out war. It must not be lost when the war is won.

FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE—in the electric industry, for example—has given America far more electric power than any other nation in the world. More than all the Axis countries combined. Battle Carnegie Tech On Pittsburgh Court

Tall Titans Set For First Road Setto; Washbaughmen Are Favored

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 8.—Starting on their first road trip, the Westminster Titans travel to Pittsburgh tonight to meet the Plaid cagers of Carnegie Tech in the Oakland gym.

On the basis of previous collegiate experience, the Titans and Tartans stack up about even with each team boasting only one holdover from last year's squad. However, while Westminster has taken the measure of Camp Reynolds and Juniata in its opening engagements, the Skibos have taken a beating from the Akron Zippers and have also lost to Case.

On the basis of the rivals' showing thus far, the Lawrence countians rate an edge.

Coach Washbaugh contemplates starting Ed Little and Dave Davis at forwards; Noble Jorgenson, 6 foot 8 star, at center; and Captain Don Bennett and Henry Vitkovich, of Ellwood City, at the sentinel posts.

This array of shooters averages slightly better than 6 feet 3.

Jorgenson Key Man

Outcome of tonight's fray will depend a great deal on the effectiveness of 17-year-old Jorgenson. The Pittsburgh product, who has spearheaded the Titans to two straight, leads the scoring column with 36 points. If he continues his starting under the basket play, the blue and white may emerge triumphant by a lopsided count.

Tonight's engagement likely will be Westminster's easiest opponent on this week's card. Friday night, the tall Titans meet the strong Akron Zippers on the latter home floor and then Saturday, Westminster will match baskets with the Oklaoma Aggies in Buffalo, N. Y.

While the Tartans have been labeled one of the district's "easier" teams, Coach Washbaugh is taking no chances and has been putting his men through strenuous practice sessions this week in preparation for the game.

With three "road" tussles on this week's card, Coach Washbaugh is keeping his fingers crossed. The Titans' showing in these fray should provide some kind of a barometer regarding the Titans' prowess this season.

Redskins' Losses Spoiling Play-Off Attraction Dec. 19

By DAVIS J. WALSH

(International News Service Sports Writers)

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(INS)—Kibitzers and street corner intelligentsia may be, and no doubt are, nodding astutely to themselves while giving the situation a knowing leer. But local headquarters of the national football league are represented today as being genuinely alarmed by the successive defeats of the champion Washington Redskins, suitably set off in New York, where the Giants came from behind a 10-0 deficit to win by 14-10.

Alarmed, yes... and privately convinced that, no matter what happens from now on, it will do the championship play-off game here, December 19, no good in full face and profile. In fact, the feeling is that the championship play-off promotion may now wind up where it won't even draw conclusions.

"Bad Theatre"

For one thing, there's the element of "bad theatre" produced by a wire-haired schedule, in which everybody else is required to wait around for weeks while George P. Marshall finishes the football season in Washington... mostly on the seat of his britches. For another, there's the suspicion (fast becoming a certainty) that no matter who plays the Bears here on the 19th, it'll be an anti-climax.

First, for instance, the Redskins show the Bears up, beating them by 21-7, so that another meeting seemed superfluous. Then, the Redskins set out to show themselves up, losing to Phil-Pitt one Sunday and to the Giants the next. Meantime, the Bears almost lost to the last-place Cardinals in a game they desperately needed to establish themselves as western champions. So?

So, on the eastern end we now have this hilarious situation: The Redskins, beaten by the Giants in New York, will next play the Giants in Washington to close the regular season. If the champions can win that one convincingly, they'll at least qualify for the play-off at Wrigley Field as a champion should.

M. Cooper Reports For Exam Monday

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Morton Cooper, St. Louis Cardinals pitching ace, Tuesday was called up for service in the armed forces.

Cooper, 29, will report for his physical examination at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., Monday.

Mort is married and the father of a 6-year-old son.

If accepted, he will be the fifth star of the 1943 National League champion Cardinals called to the armed forces since the start of the 1943 season. Outfielder Harry Walker, Pitcher Al Brazle and Second Basemen Lou Klein, already are in uniform; Cooper's brother Walker, a catcher, was accepted for service in November, but has not yet reported for duty.

BOSTON-DETROIT TIED IN HOCKEY

BOSTON, Dec. 8.—(INS)—The Boston Bruins still cling today to their record of giving no ground in home National Hockey League games this season after holding the Detroit Redwings to a 6-6 tie in the last three minutes of play.

Paschal Candidate For Rookie Award

Giants' Star Making Late Bid For Pro Ground-Gaining Honors, Too

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Bill Paschal, New York Giants' candidate for professional football rookie of the year, is making a late season bid for ground-gaining honors in the National Football League.

Figures released today by the league show Paschal fourth behind Jack Hinkle, Phil-Pitt; Harry Clark, Chicago Bears, and Tony Canadeo, Green Bay Packers.

Bill clipped off 57 yards against Washington last Sunday as the Giants whipped the Redskins, 14 to 10. That feat alone gave him the season's high honors for one game and pulled him up to 91 yards behind the leading Hinkle, who has galloped 571 yards with the ball.

May Pass Canadeo

The Giants meet the Redskins again next Sunday and the game will give Paschal a second chance to challenge Hinkle's advantage. He's almost certain to pass Canadeo, who is only nine yards ahead of him.

Sammy Baugh of the Redskins gave St. Louis Cardinals the go-by last Sunday in the forward passing department and has only to hang onto his 555 percentage to stay in front of Sid in the average column.

Don Hutson, perennial pass catcher of the Packers, wound up his ninth season last Sunday by snatching the pass receiving title for the third consecutive year and the scoring championship for the fourth time in a row. Hutson said after the game with Phil-Pitt that he would retire, but he says that every season.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Should Ossie Harris, who fought here as an amateur, win over Fritz Ziege, former welterweight king, December 13, in Pittsburgh, he will be in on the big money circuit. Harris lost recently to Joe Bascara and Coley Welch but came out of the bouts very popular. Mose Brown, who for a time appeared very promising, then was bowled over, will appear against Jack O'Sullivan in one of the supporting battles.

Nelson Burton of St. Louis, co-holder of the National Doubles championship, maintained his lead in the annual all-star match game bowling championship preliminaries last night in Chicago. He rolled a six-game 1,313 for a 24-game total of 5,102. He rolled 200 in each game Tuesday afternoon. Walter Ward of Cleveland with 5,003, occupies second place.

C. W. Beckman, Pittsburgh sportsman, bought six thoroughbreds at the Charleston, W. Va., race track yesterday. The ponies are Black Magic, Seventeen Guns, Plous Display, Bear Cat, My One and Hot Man. All have been racing at the meet now nearing a conclusion at Charleston.

Walter Kiesel, former coach will return as coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1944 and is on the alert for players.

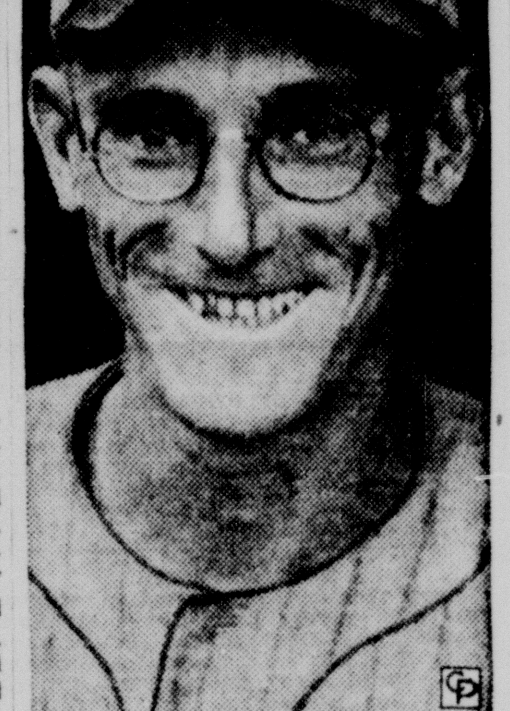

Howard Moss of the Chicago Bears, western division winners, predicted today that the Washington Redskins would capture the eastern division title.

The Redskins play the New York Giants Sunday in Washington and Anderson said it would be the Redskins by at least two touchdowns.

Hunk's prediction didn't coincide with the form displayed by the Giants in upsetting Sammy Baugh and company, 14 to 10, last Sunday.

Washington needs at least a tie to become the opponent of the Bears in the title for the National Football League championship at Wrigley Field, Chicago, December 19.

Shardone Paces Wolverines With 13 Points; Mehocic Tops For Cementers

In an exciting pre-season fray played on Bessemer high floor Tuesday night, Ellwood City annexed its second victory by trouncing Bessemer, 51-34.

Play in the opening half was of the nip and tuck sort with Ellwood going ahead 12-5 in the first only to see the Class B Cementers pocket 15 markers to leave the court at half-time trailing by a 21-20 count.

The Wolverines, however, reached their peak in the third, registering 20 points to run Bessemer's hopes.

Mehocic Top Scorer

Shardone led Ellwood's offense with 13 markers. Cartwright, Presto and Hayden followed with a dozen points apiece. Bessemer's Mehocic was the game's top scorer with 14 points on six fielders and a pair of free throws. Kresevich, Johnson and Miller each dumped six points.

In the preliminary, Ellwood's reserves bagged a 47-21 verdict over the Bessemer stand ins.

Friday night, Bessemer faces New Castle at George Washington junior high floor while Ellwood journeys to Butler high.

Mack Sells Interest In Wilmington Club To Phils' Carpenter

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Bob Carpenter, youthful new owner of the Phillies, today had acquired Connie Mack's half-interest in the Wilmington Blue Rocks of the Interstate League, for an undisclosed price.

Carpenter and his father, Robert R. M. Carpenter, Sr., previously held 50 percent of the stock in the Blue Rocks, a club used by Mack's Athletics to develop talent. Arrangements for the purchase from the A's manager were completed at a "very fair figure" according to Carpenter.

"We will use Wilmington as a unit in the Phillies' farm chain and I'll continue as president," Carpenter said.

Hunk Picks Skins To Win East Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—The wish may be father to the thought, but Hunk Anderson, co-coach of the Chicago Bears, western division winners, predicted today that the Washington Redskins would capture the eastern division title.

The Redskins play the New York Giants Sunday in Washington and Anderson said it would be the Redskins by at least two touchdowns.

Hunk's prediction didn't coincide with the form displayed by the Giants in upsetting Sammy Baugh and company, 14 to 10, last Sunday.

Washington needs at least a tie to become the opponent of the Bears in the title for the National Football League championship at Wrigley Field, Chicago, December 19.

Layden Says 'No' To 'Fix' Charges

Finds No Proof Of Collusion Between League Members And Gamblers

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Elmer F. Layden, commissioner of the National Football League, announced today he had found no substantiation whatever of recurrent rumors that betting coups had been engineered through deals between gamblers and the players in certain games.

Amazing upsets in some of the season's games were chiefly responsible for the investigation, Layden issued the following statement: "Since becoming commissioner of the National Football League in 1941 I have investigated all rumors more thoroughly than anyone else connected with professional football. That's my job."

"So far I have not been able to find the slightest factual evidence of collusion between anyone in the league and gamblers."

Invites Evidence

"We welcome factual evidence from anyone. The penalty for gambling is expulsion from the league, and it will be enforced swiftly and vigorously."

Chicago gamblers said there had been little "action" in professional football betting this season and that the handle in any one game had not exceeded $3,000.

Among the games which were said to have aroused suspicion were the New York Giants' 14 to 10 defeat of the Washington Redskins last Sunday, the Phil-Pitt 27 to 14 defeat of the Redskins and the Redskins' 21 to 7 victory over the heavily favored Chicago Bears, Nov. 21.

George Strickler, publicity director for the National Football League, said Layden received a telephone call yesterday from the Washington, D. C., Times-Herald during which the newspaper gave the names of players it suspected of possibly being involved in the rumored deals and the amounts bet.

Honors for being the loftiest cager on New Castle high's squad go to Pete Slack. The sophomore, who extends about 6 feet 2, dribbled at George Washington last year. . . . Bob Stewart, the local school's Sherlock Holmes, almost jumped off his seat while radioing a few nights back. He ran across a basketball game broadcast and tuned in just as the announcer said, "Stewart in for Princeton. Up to that time he didn't know his son, the ex-Ne-Ca-Hi grid-cage ace, was on Nassau's squad! . . .

Russ Currie, "Cane seat back in '42, now is a sergeant stationed in Alabama. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner still hasn't completed the job of filling Ne-Ca-Hi's 1944 grid date card. . . . Beaver Falls high's Section 3 cage quint will average 6 feet 2. . . . Evar Swanson, former court star for Bessemer high, is flipping for the Coast Guard barracks of Brooklyn. Carl Hubbell, who has hung up his long pants to shepherd the New York Giants' farm stock, has a lifetime earned run average of 2.68. Needless to say, one of the best in the history of the game. . . . Lou Little, Columbia University grid coach, advocates rule changes. If you check the Lions' record, you'll admit something should be done. . . . PASTOR TO FIGHT BARLUND DEC. 17

DENVER, Dec. 8.—(INS)—Denver's professional boxing drought ended today with announcement that Pat Bob Pastor, ranking heavyweight championship contender, will meet the veteran Gunnar Barlund on December 17.

Matty Norton, matchmaker for the newly formed Denver Sports Association, said special arrangements had been made with the ring after an absence of more than a year. "Bicycle Bob" now is stationed at nearby Fort Logan as a physical training instructor.

Don't Make This Black Christmas

Appeal Is Made To Reduce Accident Toll In Holiday Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Don't make this a black Christmas for the boys in uniform!

The National Safety Council made that appeal today in announcing a nationwide campaign to reduce the accident toll that annually soars over the Christmas holiday season.

"It just doesn't make sense," said Colonel John Stilwell, president of the Council, "for a nation to sing 'White Christmas' and at the same time go on a jamboree of carelessness that makes it a black Christmas in thousands of homes."

"There is no use pretending, of course, that this is going to be a normal carefree Christmas. But one sure way to utterly ruin it for that boy in uniform is to have an accident that kills or even injures one of his loved ones at home."

"Those boys out there are fighting for the peace and security of their homes. The very least we can do on the home front is to prevent accidents that destroy this very peace and security."

Near To Sabotage

"There is a lot of difference between the risks a fighting man must take and those we thoughtlessly invite. His risks are patriotic. Ours amount to sabotage."

The Council pointed out the deaths from accidents on the home front since Pearl Harbor (as of late November) are running seven to one over deaths to American fighting men on the battlefield. The accident death toll to workers alone, off and on the job, is three times as great as the death toll on the battlefield, while the traffic death toll is twice as great.

"These figures are nothing short of appalling," said Colonel Stilwell. "But the success of this campaign of disgraceful," said Colonel Stilwell. "They represent a waste of manpower, time and material that a nation at war simply cannot afford."

One hundred and thirty other national organizations are cooperating with the Council in the Christmas campaign.

Governors, mayors, police chiefs, state patrol chiefs, motor vehicle administrators and other public officials are participating actively.

"If every American citizen will make it his simple duty to use common sense, courtesy and caution, we can cut the Christmas toll in half, help our boys in uniform and speed their victorious return. Is it worth it?"

Attempting To Placate Labor

Meat Packers Council Asserts O.P.A. Is Violating Price Control Laws

By ELLIOTT HAYES
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Wilbur Laro, Jr., counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers charged Tuesday that the OPA is deliberately violating price control laws and paying food subsidies in order to placate labor.

Laro was one of two major food industries representatives to appear at hearings today before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on a house approved bill to banish all food subsidies.

Ezra T. Benson, executive secretary of the National Council of Farm Cooperatives, was the other witness. He joined with Laro in urging what he called "real price control" and opposition to subsidies.

"Since price control was first established meat packers have been subjected to unfair squeezes," Laro said.

Laro said that the average annual consumption of meat in the United States for both civilian and military purposes is only 66 pounds per person.

At this rate, he said, the three cents a pound roll back mean an annual savings to the consumer of only $101 or 17 cents a month.

"Certainly this small sum will not stop inflation," he said.

The farm bloc hurled defiance at the administration from both sides of the political fence when Hen Bankhead (D-Ala.) announced there would be no letup in pressure for quick passage of a bill planning food subsidies.

"All rumors and reports to the contrary, I have heard no definite proposals of compromise and no one has come in with any new plans," Bankhead said. "We will wind up hearings this week. Of course I cannot tell what will happen if the senate changes the house bill on the floor."

LEESBURG

The Young Peoples' Council of district 14 met at the church Friday evening and enjoyed an oyster supper.
